'JAIL ELECTION THUGS' COURTNEY ORDER

LEN SMALL WILL PULL THE STATE OUT OF MUDDLE

The Illinois sales tax is probably the most unfair tax measure ever put upon the shoulders of the people of Illinois. It takes 3 cents out of every dollar you earn. It taxes the bread and meat you buy It taxes you every time you go to the store. It is a sample of what you may expect if you continue the present administration of the Democratic party in power, or if you vote for any of the hand-picked candidates in either party that certain interests put forward. Len Small is the only candidate who is pledged to repeal the sales tax, the only one who will save you three cents on every dollar you earn. Illinois—it is time to act, and time to get behind a tried, true and experienced leader. Illinois is in the mud again, and once again to pull Illinois out of the mud vote for Len Small for governor in the primaries tomorrow.

* * *

There is no security with a higher rating in the political exchange than a Len Small promise. That is true, whether it is a promise to an individual or a promise to the public. A Len Small promise is accepted at its face value alike by professional politicians and those who have only a casual interest in politics. Len Small belongs to that old school and generation in which a promise was intended as an obligation to be fulfilled.

Therefore, when Len Small promises the people of Illinois that he will repeal the 3 per cent sales tax when he becomes governor again, the people know that he means it. An analysis of state appropriations discloses that 10 per cent of the sales tax is used for state payroll and that $20,000,000 of sales tax collections is exhausted in waste and extravagance of the present administration.

* * *

It is estimated that the person who paid a $5 state property tax under Len Small now pays from $35 to $60 in sales taxes. Len Small promised the people of Illinois that he would build roads, reduce utility rates, pay a state bonus to world war veterans, He kept those, and many other promises. He pledges himself now to repeal the sales tax. He will keep that promise just as he keeps all promises to the people.

GEN. HAGOOD TO BE RESTORED TO COMMAND MAY 2

"Naughty" Army Officer to Command Sixth Corps Area Then

Washington, April 13—(AP)—Major General Johnson Hagood was ordered restored to active duty today in command of the Sixth Corps area at Chicago.

Hagood was removed from command of the Eighth Corps Area after he had criticized WPA money was "stage money." The disciplined officer conferred twice with president Roosevelt.

At Chicago he will replace Major Gneral Frank R. McCoy. The assignment is effective May 2.

McCoy will be transferred to command the Second Corps Area at New York, succeeding Major General Dennis E. Nolan, who is retiring.

The decision to restore Hagood to active duty was made personally by Roosevelt after a second conference with Hagood at the White House Saturday afternoon.

In army quarters it was understood that Hagood, who is the third highest ranking general officer in the army, urged Roosevelt to send him to the Second Corps Area, which is considered the most desirable command post in the United States.

But it was reported that this was opposed both by high administration officials and by General Malin Craig, Chief of Staff.

At Chicago, Hagood will have command of the Second Army, embracing troops within both the Fifth and Sixth Corps Areas. Important army maneuvers are to be held in that region late this summer.

Hagood has approximately 14 months to serve before reaching the statutory retirement age of 64.

On his own application, however, he can retire at any time with full retirement pay under the law permitting such a step after 40 years of active service.

Submitted Application

War department sources said that less than a month ago he submitted his formal application for retirement, but requested later that action be suspended pending an interview with Roosevelt. He placed his case before the chief executive while the latter was en route to Florida for his recent fishing trip.

After that interview, it was announced that Hagood would take a three months leave of absence, during which time a decision would be made as to his future duties.

Dept. Announcement

The announcement that a new assignment had been given him was made in war department special order number 88, which read as follows:

"By direction of the president, Major General Johnson Hagood, U. S. A., now awaiting orders at his home, Charleston, S. C., is assigned to the command of the Sixth Corps Area to take effect May 2, 1936, and will proceed, at the proper time, to Chicago, Ill., and assume the command to which assigned.

"The travel directed is necessary in the military service."

Nolan retires April 30. On the following day, McCoy will take over his command at Goverorn's Island, N. Y., and on the next day Hagood will assume command at Chicago.

JAMES MONTGOMERY BECK

Former Solicitor General of the United States and noted constitutional lawyer, who died suddenly in Washington yesterday, the result of a heart attack. OFFICERS WATCH FUNERAL RITES OF RAPE VICTIM

Hope to Apprehend Killer of New York Woman in Crowd

New York, April 13.—(AP)—Detectives scrutinized visitors today at the funeral of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton on the chance that her slayer, suspected to being mentally unbalanced, might attend the service.

They sought especially two unidentified men, one described as tall and effeminate appearing, and the other as stocky and coarse.

Although police had the evidence to connect the men directly with the strangling of the author in her Beekman Place apartment Friday, they wanted to question them about strange appearances in the neighborhood.

Lewis Titterton, executive of the National Broadcasting Company and husband of the slain woman, stood with officers at the door of the funeral chapel on Lexington Avenue.

About 100 persons clustered on the sidewalk, but only persons who were known were admitted to the chapel.

Tried to Enter Home.

Margaret Arbeiter, 30, a housemaid, told detectives the stocky man twice tried to force an entrance to the home of her employer, J. D. Wooster Lambert, retired member of the Lambert Chemical Company, less than 24 hours before Mrs. Titterton was slain Friday.

Lambert resides at 17 Beekman Ploce, while Mrs. Titterton and her husband had their apartment at 22 Beekman Place.

The second man was described by Miss Helen Meyer, a Park Avenue costumer, as tall, handsome, and having sandy brown hair. She said he displayed a knowledge of the social set in which Mr. and Mrs. Titterton moved.

Passed Bad Checks.

Miss Meyer said this suspect called at her shop last Tuesday and maneuvered to be alone with her. He gave her a check for $35 toward the cost of putting on a style show at a country club near Deal, N. J., and then persuaded her to cash a $5 check. She later found the checks were worthless and the country club non-existent. Samples of his writing were obtained from the checks.

The description furnished by Miss Meyer tallied with that of a man who made two mysterious visits last week to the building in which the Tittertons lived. Countess Alice Hoyos, another resident in this building, said he attempted to gain entrance by pretending he knew people living there.

EDITORIAL

TUESDAY'S PRIMARY ELECTION

The first names on the Republican primary ballot which you will pick up on Tuesday are William E. Borah and Frank Knox, candidates for president of the United States. Being only a preferential primary gesture the result of which is not binding so far as presidential candidates are concerned, this vote will merely show the trend of public opinion in Illinois. Republican voters in this state certainly should give their primary vote to Frank Knox, Illinois candidate for the presidency. Col. Knox is an outstanding figure in the United States. As publisher of the Chicago Daily News, one of the most successful newspapers in America, he has waged relentless warfare against the evils of the New Deal.

Of the eight names on the ballot for Republican nomination for governor, The Telegraph recommends Len Small, the farmer and businessman from Kankakee who governed this state so successfully for eight years. The only candidate on the list from downstate who can possibly be nominated and elected and the only hope of Illinois citizens to get and keep this state out of the hands of the bi-partisan politicians in Chicago, Len Small should be nominated by a tremendous vote. He would be the best friend Dixon and Lee County could have in the governor's chair. When he was governor Dixon's cement plant was busy all the year around. Now that the state buys its cement from the La Salle mills Dixon's cement plant workers are idle about half of the time. Small is the only candidate who has proven his ability to govern Illinois, and he showed that he could do that job exceedingly well.

For United States Senator William E. Hull of Peoria is recommended. Mr. Hull was a member of congress from that district for years and has a splendid record in Washington.

For Lieutenant Governor George Hatzenbuhler of Bloomington is recommended.

For Secretary of State we urge William J. Stratton. Mr. Stratton has filled the office of Secretary of State very successfully and efficiently and could be depended upon to repeat that splendid performance of public duty.

Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield is the outstanding candidate from downstate for Auditor of Public Accounts.

For State Treasurer there should be no question but that Clarence F. Buck of Monmouth should be nominated. Former state senator and a Republican leader who has given fine public service for many years, Clarence Buck deserves your vote. He is publicly endorsed by Col. Frank O. Lowden.

IDAHO TOWN ISOLATED BY SNOW SLIDES

Idaho City, Idaho, April 13.—(AP)—Snow, melting and sliding from the effect of a bright Easter sun, had this historic mining town isolated early today for the first time in 30 years.

The hot sun and warm winds released floods from snowbank reservoirs and the water washed over the road between here and Boise. A snowslide tumbled down a mountain and blocked the road to Centerville, the only other outlet. About 200 persons live here.

HEAT WAVE

COOK'S STATES ATTORNEY ACTS TO END FORCE

Record Vote Expected Throughout State in Primary Poll

Chicago, April 13.—(AP)—With at least nine political workers nursing painful injuries at the hands of pre-primary sluggers, and armed raiders reported in the field, State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney swung into action today against violence connected with the voting tomorrow.

The Cook county prosecutor ordered his own sizable police staff to "throw election gangsters into jail," warning:

"The use of gangsters, gunmen and thugs for any purpose will not be tolerated."

The nine injured, including two women, said they were workers for Gov. Henry Horner's renomination on the Democratic state ticket. They told of being set upon by hoodlums with brass "knuckles."

All Claim Victory

In the rough-and-tumble fight for the Democratic nomination, both sides claimed victory was assured. Said Governor Horner:

"Victory is ours, strictly on the issue of bossism versus the Democratic voters."

Said Mayor Edward Kelly, Horner's sparring partner in the bitter campaign oratory:

"Dr. Herman N. Bundesen will win by more than 300,000 votes."

The Horner camp's official prediction, from Manager James Slattery, was:

"On the expectation of 1,300,000 Democratic votes, Governor Horner will come to the Cook county line with a 300,000 plurality and increase it here by 150,000 to 200,000."

Nash's Last Blast

P. A. "Pat" Nash, Democratic county chairman, claimed Bundesen would win, and also predicted "a smashing vote for President Roosevelt," unopposed in the presidential preferential primary. Nash in an eleventh-hour blast called Gov. Horner "the choice of Republican anti-Roosevelt leadership."

With a heavy Chicago registration and political activity unusually intense in both parties, some of the dopesters predicted the total vote would exceed 2,500,000, for a new record. The 1934 "off year" elections set the present record of 2,133,000.

Senator Borah, Idaho, contesting the Republican presidential preferential vote with Col. Frank Knox of Chicago, said in Washington that "old and experienced political leaders" were "at sea" about the outcome of that feature event of tomorrow's balloting.

Knox's managers were claiming their candidate would make a sweeping victory, losing not one of the state's convention delegates.

The governorship battle roared to its finish unabated. Last minute developments included a charge by Horner that a city-wide "campaign of vandalism" was directed against his supporters.

On Republican Side

On the Republican side, former Gov. Len Small declared:

"I was never so confident of winning. I have by far the best organization and I will carry the downstate by from 75,600 to 100,000 and Cook county by as much or more."

Small claimed a last minute swing to his camp on the part of Republican ward committeemen.

Supporters of both Small and C. Wayland Brooks claimed committeemen were coming to them from the camp of H. Wallace Caldwell, a third of the seven Republican contenders, but Caldwell's aides denied any defections were taking place.

The election-eve prediction from Brooks' managers was: "We'll carry every downstate congressional district, and win in Chicago by 140,000 votes. Ninety per cent of the Chicago ward committeemen will be for Brooks."

George W. Dowell of Du Quoin, denying he had withdrawn, said he would carry at least 85 of the 101 downstate counties.

Oscar E. Carlstrom's battle-cry was equally confident. "Reports coming in show an almost unbelievable increase in my strength. The fight is Small against Carlstrom, not Brooks."

FAIR PRIMARY DAY

Chicago, April 13.—(AP)—C. A. Donnel, government weather forecaster, said today it was "almost certain" that generally fair weather would prevail for primary day tomorrow throughout the state.

"There will be increasing cloudiness in the northern part of the state by tomorrow night," he said, "with some possibility of light showers."

State's Attorney Edward Jones submitted only the one case for the grand jury's investigation. The true bill contained indictments on charges of burglary and larceny.

After investigating the single case, the grand jury visited the county jail and inspected the court house property and presented its final report to Judge Manus at 11:45. Judge Manus excused the grand jury for the term, subject to recall if necessary.

Two Aerial Honeymooners Survive Airplane Wreck and Week of Cold Without Fire or Food

Ketchikan, Alaska, April 13.—(AP)—Two aerial honeymooners who survived an airplane wreck and a week of cold weather without food or fire were safe today after searchers had almost abandoned hope of finding them alive.

Suffering from hunger and exposure, but otherwise unhurt, Albert Almosiino of Seattle and his 18-year-old bride of a month were found yesterday at Princess Bay, 40 miles south of here.

They were picked up and brought here by the coast guard cutter Cyane after the wreckage of their pontoon equipped monoplane was located by Pilot Sheldon Simmons of Juneau and two observers.

Both were sent to a hospital, but were in good spirits and expected "to be as good as ever" in a few days.

The two went six days without food and slept in soggy clothing after the plane was wrecked last Monday in attempting to land on the choppy waters of the bay. They swam ashore, but emergency rations and a rifle were lost.

John Rydlewski, 34, suffered a fracture of the nose in a fight with three men. Mrs. Marie Klopowski, 37, told police the men ordered her to throw away the literature she carried and go home or "have your head blown off."

LOWDENS CAST ABSENTEE VOTE FOR COL. KNOX

Marked Their Choices Before Leaving for European Trip

Chicago, April 13—Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, America's foremost authority on agriculture and the problems and needs of the farmer, has cast an absentee ballot in the state's presidential primaries for Frank Knox, Illinois' favorite son candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

When the ballot box in ex-Gov. Lowden's home precinct in Ogle county is opened tomorrow it will enclose not only the ballot of one of the state's outstanding citizens and statesmen, and himself the favorite son of Illinois for the Republican nomination for the Presidency in 1920 and 1928, but that of Mrs. Lowden. Both absentee ballots have been marked showing the preference of the Lowdens for Frank Knox for the Republican presidential nomination.

This act, significant to Illinois and the nation because of the prestige of ex-Gov. Lowden in the Republican party, became known today through intimate friends of the Lowdens. They cast absentee ballots because they left Saturday on their annual European trip and will be on the high seas when the primaries are held.

Lowden Plan Endorsed

Ex-Gov. Lowden has been repeatedly mentioned as the outstanding choice of Republican leaders to make the keynote address at the Republican convention in Cleveland in June. Col. Knox has said that if he had anything to do with the framing of the Republican platform the agricultural plank would be written by ex-Gov. Lowden. In all his recent speeches on the farm problem, Col. Knox has endorsed the proposal of Mr. Lowden for the restoration of soil fertility by grants of Federal funds to the states, to be administered and distributed by experts of the state land grant colleges.

"Agricultural production can undoubtedly by greatly improved by more intelligent use of the soil," said Col. Knox, "by promoting and preserving soil fertility, following the lines suggested by Gov. Lowden, than whom there is no more competent student of farm affairs in America."

Ex-Gov. Lowden has himself twice, in 1920 and again in 1928, been the "favorite son" candidate of Illinois for the Republican nomination for president. As a great administrator and budget balancer, he was the governor of Illinois during the World War and was the originator of the Illinois budget system. No other man in the United States has such a political following among the farmers of the nation, to whose cause he has been devoted all his life. He has been a student of government and economics, a leader in the development of blooded livestock, a friend of the rural school system and a defender of the Constitution.

It has also become known that, in addition to Gov. Lowden, all the living Republican ex-governors of Illinois, headed by the venerable Joseph W. Fifer of Bloomington, will cast their votes Tuesday for Col. Knox. That is an indication of the widespread support for his candidacy, which has been endorsed in the Republican committees in 99 out of 102 counties on the state, by all the Chicago ward committees, the Republican state central committee and innumerable other Republican organizations.

EX-GOV. YATES' FUNERAL RITES AT SPRINGFIELD

Former Chief Executive of Illinois Died Saturday Night

Springfield, Ill., April 13—(AP)—Arrangements were completed today for funeral services tomorrow afternoon for former Governor Richard Yates, 75, whose death Saturday night ended a long career in public office and Republican politics.

Services at 2:00 P. M. in the First Methodist Episcopal church here will be followed by services at the grave in Diamond Grove cemetery at Jacksonville, Ill.

Rev. T. N. Ewing, superintendent of the Springfield district, assisted by Rev. E. G. Sandmeyer of Springfield, will have charge of the services. Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of Chicago, prevented from conducting the services by an eastern engagement, said he would send a message to be read at the rites.

Templars to Attend

Pallbearers, cousins and nephews of the former governor, will be Paul Rowe, Richard Rowe, Judge Paul Samuell and Dr. A. B. Applebee of Jacksonville, and Howard Knotts and Russell Yates of Springfield.

Members of the Knights Templar and the Yates Cadets will attend the rites in a body.

Yate's death left six living former governors of Illinois but it was not known here how many of them planned to attend the rites. They are Joseph Fifer of Bloomington, Charles S. Deneen and Edward F. Dunne of Chicago, Frank O. Lowden of Oregon, Len Small of Kankakee and Louis L. Emmerson of Mt. Vernon.

Yates, who was a roommate of William Jennings Bryan while attending Illinois College at Jacksonville, for about forty years was a prominent figure in Republican circles. His public service ended in 1932 when the Democratic landslide kept him from returning to Congress.

He had been in failing health for about four years.

CAMPAIGN NEAR CLOSE IN THIS STATE THIS EVE

Hectic Drive for Vote Culminates in Poll at Primaries

Chicago, April 13.—(AP)—Illinois' hectic campaign—matching Col. Frank Knox and Senator William E. Borah in the first man-to-man test of Republican presidential contenders—rumbled to a close today amid predictions of a record primary vote.

Leaders of both parties estimated more than 2,500,000 ballots would be marked tomorrow in settling the manifold issues raised by a host of candidates in one of the most stirring battles in the state's history.

National attention was riveted on the showdown between Knox and Borah in the presidential preference primary. Although the vote will not bind convention delegates, it was designed to show the strength of the rival aspirants.

Republicans and Democrats each elect two delegates and two alternates in each of 25 congressional districts. The Democrats are entitled to 58 delegates at the national convention and the Republicans have 57 to their convention. The additional delegates at large will be named May 1 at state conventions, the Democrats electing eight at Springfield and the Republicans naming seven at Peoria.

Knox Denied Charges

Borah returned to Washington after four days of stumping that took him to his birthplace at Fairfield. He charged "monopolistic interests" were using "up to a million dollars" against him. Knox, who also toured the state, informed Borah by telegram the Knox Illinois campaign committee spent about $25,000, "all contributed by my friends in small amounts." Knox headquarters announced he had the support of 95 of 102 county chairmen.

President Roosevelt was unopposed on the Democratic preferment ballot. But party chieftains, anxious to compare the Knox-Borah and Roosevelt totals, urged followers to mass a huge vote for him as an indorsement of the New Deal.

Becomes Imbroglio

Intense interest was manifest in the Democratic gubernatorial race. Gov. Henry Horner, rejected by the "regular" organization, faced Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Chicago health commissioner championed by Mayor Edward J. Kelly. Recrimination turned the campaign into an imbroglio. Old alliances were broken. Bundesen forces charged the governor with payroll padding. Horner followers accused Bundesen of attempting to recruit WPA workers by intimidation.

Horner predicted he would obtain a 400,000 majority while Kelly contended Bundesen would receive a 300,000 margin in Cook county alone. Each aspirant pictured himself as the best ally of Roosevelt in November. National leaders steered clear of the fight.

In the G. O. P. gubernatorial contest, seven candidates were listed. They included former Governor Len Small and C. Wayland Brooks, former Assistant Cook county prosecutor.

Former Senator Otis F. Glenn was entered against former Congressman William E. Hull in the Republican senatorial lists. Senator James Hamilton Lewis had two nominal opponents on the Democratic side.

Scattered reports of slugging and window smashing prompted officials to assign the bulk of the police force to the polls.

Roosevelt to Speak

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—Plunging into the campaign wars after his rest at sea, President Roosevelt made final preparations today for his speech at a Democratic rally in Baltimore tonight.

New Deal supporters looked to the chief executive to give further indication of the line the administration will follow in the big drive toward the November election.

From this address, which will be made before the state's Young Democratic clubs after an old-time torchlight procession, the party leaders are expected to take their cues for the campaign struggles.

Lawrence Fennaman, president of the Maryland Young Democratic organization, estimated that 25,000 persons will hear the speech at the armory, in addition to those listening in on the broadcast over a nationwide hookup at 9:30 P. M. (CST).

Parade, Reception

The president planned to go to Baltimore at the close of the White House work day. Before the parade there will be a reception and dinner given by Senator Radcliffe (D-Md). Vice-President Garner, several cabinet members and senators will be guests.

The talk is the first of a series of pre-convention speeches. A week from tonight he will address the annual convention of the D. A. R., and on April 25 he goes to New York to address a Jefferson banquet of the National Democratic Clubs.

Before the national conventions he will go to the southwest to take part in centennials in Texas and Arkansas, and will dedicate the George Rogers Clark Memorial at Vincennes, Ind.

OURSELVES

By Joseph Fort Newton

MOST of us have more trouble with ourselves than we have with anyone else. We are always standing in our own light, stepping on our own toes, stumbling over our own vanity and weakness.

"To thine own self be true," said Shakespeare, "and it must follow as the night the day, thou can'st not then be false to any man." Of course not, provided it is our true, eternal self that we are true to.

But there is the rub. Two selves dwell inside each of us, one a big fellow brave enough to face life, the other a shabby, showy little imp; one a hero ready for the fray, the other a skulk.

The big fellow wants to take hold of life and shape it after some pattern; the little coward wants to collapse in plaintiveness and fear, or else take to his heels and run away from it all.

The two are tied together, and since I cannot get away from Me, we must manage to live together as best we can, somehow. Often we can escape from other people, but we cannot escape from ourselves.

What can we do with ourselves? First, we can try to understand ourselves, take stock of the facts, size up the situation. It means much to make a survey of ourselves and see the problem straight.

Then we must make a clear-cut decision between the two fellows within us, which is to run the ranch and boss the show. Until that is settled, we cannot have any peace or do much in the world.

It is not an easy thing to do, albeit easier for some than for others. Alexander the Great found it easier to conquer the world than to master himself. A world conqueror, he was self-defeated!

Better settle the business all at once and once for all—to hesitate, haggle and delay means a lot of misery, not only for ourselves, but to others to whom it is important what the decision is to be.

Or, better still, he is wise who calls in the Master of all good life, puts the case in His hands, and abides by the verdict. Some people call it religion; others call it just plain, sound sense.

Augustana Choir Wins Praise Of Critics In East

The Augustana Choir of Rock Island, Illinois which will present a concert in Dixon at the St. Paul's Lutheran church on Friday evening, May 1, has just returned from a tour to the eastern seaboard during which it was given lavish praise by newspaper critics all along the way. The choir was especially well received in Philadelphia and Detroit. Both of these cities offered return engagements in 1937.

Russell McLaughlin of the Detroit News is a critic who has been known to voice severe comment on occasions. But he was lavish in his praise when the choir was heard in Orchestra hall, Detroit. He said that many in the audience probably expected ordinary undergraduate performance. But the "Augustana choir turned out to be one of the finest choral instruments ever to visit Detroit."

This critic makes allowance for the fact that Swedish people are greatly gifted in the art of song, but he said this "does not altogether explain how an undergraduate singing organization, which loses at least a third of its personnel annually, and half of whose current strength is new this year, can challenge the most stable and sophisticated choirs of America. Yet the Augustana choir lays down this challenge every time it opens its collective lips."

Mr. McLaughlin affirms that "You expect them to sing 'Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes,' but instead of that they sing an eight-part arrangement of a Bach double fugue, on the hair-line accuracy, with a perfect counterpoise among eight voices, no sagging in the middle, ending as they began on absolute pitch, attacking and releasing like a pistol shot and amid all this technical splendor, mingling their voices in combined tones of extraordinary loveliness. Those words are used with consciousness of their extravagance. One has not heard a college choir like this one."

Patrons and patronesses in Philadelphia hearing the choir included Governor and Mrs. George H. Earle, S. Davis Wilson, mayor of Philadelphia, Mrs. Wilson and other notables.

The date of the Dixon appearance of the Augustana choir has been definitely set for May 1 instead of April 19, as previously announced.

The meeting was well attended.

Preceding Miss Barton's talk, a group of pupils from the E. C. Smith school gave a playlet about this Pan-American Union. The girls chorus sang several songs.

Tea was served by the hostesses, Mesdames F. A. Hanson, Boyd, Gilmore, Geo. J. Smith, Lesage, Blass, Brouer, Dashbach, Dawson, Marks, and Bowers, the tea table being most attractive.

Judge Edwards Delivered Splendid Address on Holy Land

We take the liberty of borrowing the following item from the last issue of the Franklin Grove Reporter, as many friends and admirers of Judge Edwards in Dixon and community will be glad to read his address. The article reads:—

Judge Harry Edwards of Dixon, well known as an excellent speaker, delivered his splendid address on the Holy Land to an intensely interested audience at the Methodist Episcopal church auditorium on Sunday evening. Judge Edwards brought very vividly before his audience in word pictures some of the impressive scenes which he and Mrs. Edwards visited in an extensive tour of Palestine during a several weeks trip in Europe last summer.

Confining his remarks to a description of the high spots of Biblical interest in the Holy Land, Judge Edwards asserted that the very small scope of the country of Palestine, occupying an area only one fifth the size of Illinois, was destined to shape the civilization of the world through the influence of the short life of the Savior lived upon its sacred ground.

Palestine, he said, is now under the mandate of the British government for the purpose of guaranteeing safety to the Jews returning to their original country after their many years of exile. Two hundred thousand have already returned from all parts of the world, many having gone into agriculture, picking out the best of the land as characteristic of the race. This mandate is to be observed until the Jews become organized and capable of self-government. Great Britain to be the sole judge of when this condition has been reached.

Conditions Are Improved

However a great improvement has been accomplished in Palestine through modern sanitation and educational systems introduced by the British, Judge Edwards stated. The people of Palestine he found to be very sincerely religious, newcomers being questioned not as to their nationality or occupation, but as to whether they were Mohammedan, Christian or Jew.

Having first visited Jerusalem, the Holy City, Judge Edwards pictured very clearly the chapel of the Holy Sepulchre, an immense edifice surprisingly covering Calvary, the place of Christ's crucifixion and the tomb of Joseph of Arimathea, the place of his burial, both distinctly portrayed by the speaker. Also enclosed in this vast structure are several beautifully furnished chapels for the use of different religious groups: The Wailing Wall was described as a part of the wall of Solomon's temple before which the Jews are now allowed to carry on, unmolested, their religious rites which begin as a form of lamentation over the captivity of Jerusalem, later changing to a supplication for the return of the nation to its former place. Jerusalem, known as the walled city with seven gates, still has the wall around the city, Judge Edwards said, and some of the gates are still used.

Visits Mt. of Olives

Leaving the city the speaker portrayed the cobblestone walk, marked on either sides by incidents in the journey of Jesus to his crucifixion; Mt. of Olives topped by olive trees said to be shoots from the trees of Christ's time, and at the foot of the Mount, Gethsemane, a very rocky piece of ground where only a few flowers are grown and on which a beautiful Catholic chapel stands. On returning across the brook of Kidron, Judge Edwards stated that one comes upon the gate of the triumphant entry into Jerusalem which has been filled up by the Mohammedans, but fortunately with a different colored brick so that this important spot is still easily found in the wall.

Visiting Bethlehem, a city about the size of Rochelle and the place of Christ's birth, was described very splendidly by the speaker. The description included the Church of the Nativity, an immense church with numerous chapels for religious gatherings; the inn and the place connected with it which is said to be the birthplace of the Savior of the world, the exact spot of the nativity being marked by a large, six-pointed silver star.

The drive of about 200 miles from Jerusalem to Damascus, the St. Paul road, Judge Edwards continued, was made over a modern cement road, while only a few rods to one side ran the caravan road on which were camels loaded with goods for the various markets.

Judge Edwards concluded his address, which all wished might have been much longer, with a vivid picture of Damascus, the city especially associated with St. Paul. The street called Straight, he said, is not very straight and affairs are conducted here which are anything but straight. In the Mohammedan churches, which the Christians, though hated, are allowed to enter by paying a fee and having rubbed pads fastened under their shoes, there are no seats or other furniture except a raised platform from which the Koran is read, and many rugs about the floor upon which the Mohammedans carry on their services of worship. There being no women allowed during these services the speaker asserted that this was one place where men could have their say.

GIRL FINDS HER SISTER EMPLOYE STATE HOSPITAL

Chicago Woman Now is Hopeful of Locating Other Relatives

Chicago.—Her hopes renewed by reading of the reunion, after a fifteen year separation, of Betty Bernard and her foster-mother, Mrs. Loretta Radtke, Mrs. Mildred Bernhardt Leluan, 19, Evanston "Cradle" baby of yestedlay asked the aid of Attorney William S. McNamara, in whose office the reunion took place, in finding her lost brother and sister and in cerifying the rumor that her mother is dead.

Mildred, who was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Christian Westphalen of 3451 N. Kildareave., but grew up thinking they were her natural parents, was married last November to Frank Leluan, a young electrotyper, and, though no longer on speaking terms with the Westphalens, lives in the same apartment building with them, she said.

Lost Her Belief.

She has reason to believe, she added, that she is one of the lost heirs to the estate of her grandfather, William B. Bernhardt, an early settler of DeKalb county, who, at the time of his death, was reputed owner of much of the property in the town of Sandwich, where Mildred was born.

Her elder sister, Ruth, now 29, she has already located in Dixon, Ill., where she is employed at the state hospital as anurse.

After her father's death in 1918, according to the girl's story, her mother ran away with a roomer in their home, leaving the four children, Ruth, Marcella, James and herself, in care of their grandmother, Mrs. William Bernhardt.

She believes, she said that James and Mildred, together with herself were placed in the Evanston Cradle in 1919, and that the other two were subsequently adopted, Ruth, meanwhile, shifting for herself.

Learns Own Status.

It was only recently, she said, she had learned of her own status, and had discovered her adoption papers in the county building archives. Through information gained in Sandwich, she learned James had been given a home by a Mr. and Mrs. Long, living in S. Princeton ave., Chicago. A letter sent to that address, however, was returned, she told the lawyer. She has been unable to find any trace of Marcella.

ANOTHER SETBACK TO ARBITRARY POWER

Bureaucratic ambitions are not something that have originated with the New Deal. The Old Deal bureaucrat as a type had all the bad qualifications of the bureaucrat of the New Deal. The bureaucrat is not something born of American soil. Men who framed our government knew him well. They did what they could to prevent government by bureaucrat.

Difference between the New Deal bureaucrat and the one known to the past is that the New Dealer has back of him all the power of a powerful administration—one bureaucrat for all and all for each. Clipping of the wings of one is regarded as an offense against all.

Proof that we are not dealing with this character of government for the first time is found in the supreme court cases and decisions of record.

In passing upon a case in which the securities and exchange commission undertook to compel a man to testify although he had withdrawn his petition before it and had nothing pending, the United States supreme court cited prior decisions and went to the fundamentals of what is described by lawyers as "fishing expeditions," in which the governmental power is fishing at random, hoping to find something discreditable upon which prosecution or persecution may be based.

There is nothing new about such expeditions and they are well defined in law. Rights of the individual are involved and the constitutional prohibition against unreasonable searches and seizures was designed to protect them.

In the case just decided, the court cited decisions in prior cases.

"Against the threat of such a contingency, the courts have always been vigilant, and, if they are to perform their constitutional duties in the future, must never cease to be vigilant, to detect and turn aside the danger at its beginning," said the court in the case before it.

"The admonition of Mr. Justice Bradley should never be forgotten: 'It may be that it is the obnoxious thing in its mildest and least repulsive form; but illegitimate and unconstitutional practices get their first footing in that way, namely, by silent approaches and slight deviations from legal modes of procedure . . . . It is the duty of courts to be watchful for the constitutional rights of the citizen, and against any stealthy encroachments thereon'."

There is a disposition on the part of human beings in government as everywhere alse, to step over the boundary of law just a little—not enough to permit public resentment to be attracted to the infraction, but just enough to satisfy our own desire not to be bounded by prohibitions. Danger of destruction of our government always has lain in that direction rather than from without.

If the little never would be more, the danger would not be great. But the small infraction, if not noticed officially, leads to a greater one and into an established practice that is hard to interrupt. Thus it becomes the duty of the court to halt the first infraction.

"Arbitrary power and the rule of the constitution can not both exist," said the court, continuing. "They are antagonistic and incompatible forces; and one or the other must of necessity perish whenever they are brought into conflict. To borrow the words of Mr. Justice Day: 'There is no place in our constitutional system for the exercise of arbitrary power'."

We assume that the admonition of Justice Day was directed at a republican bureaucrat.

"To escape the assumptions of such power on the part of the three primary departments of the government (executive, legislative and judicial) is not enough," said the court. "Our institutions must be kept free from the appropriation of unauthorized power by lesser agencies as well.

"And if the various administrative bureaus and commissions necessarily called into existence by the increasing complexities of our modern business and political affairs, are permitted gradually to extend their powers by encroachments—even petty encroachments—upon the fundamental rights, privileges and immunities of the people, we shall in the end, while avoiding the fatal consequences of a supreme autocracy, become submerged by a multitude of minor invasions of personal rights, less destructive but no less violative of constitutional guarantees."

"Dissociated from the only ground upon which the inquiry had been based, and no other specified, further pursuit of the inquiry, obviously, would become what Mr. Justice Holmes characterized as 'a fishing expedition . . . for the chance that something discreditable might turn up'—an undertaking which uniformly has met with judicial condemnation."

The court concludes with the observation that if such action by the commission is upheld, it follows that production and inspection may be forced not only of books and papers of the guilty, but those of the innocent as well.

The opinion is not burdened with legal verbiage, but is written in language the man of the street may understand, and it may be that with an eye on some of the things now going on in the matter of seizure of private papers, that is what it intended.

Frank Knox of Illinois

The man the Republicans nominate must be a born leader. The New Deal can be beaten, if the Republicans nominate the right man. But the fight will be hard.

The man the Republicans nominate must be able to inspire enthusiasm. He must be able to rally the support of all true Americans, including many independent Democrats. He must be a man who will strike fear into the ranks of the New Deal.

His responsibilities will be great. He will be opposed by a lot of local New Deal Tammanys, whose chiefs may not know much about the alphabet and the Tugwellian metaphysics, but whose appetite for pork and patronage is voracious. He will have to march against a national Tammany of such dimensions as this country has never seen. He will have to shell out of their trenches a vast army of Farley payrollers. And he will have to beat $4,000,000,000!

No pussyfooter can do this. No tired politician can do it. The Republicans cannot win with a dark horse dragged out at the last moment. Neither can they win with some jolly good fellow who is cautious and hesitant and fears to offend.

The man the Republicans nominate should not be a man who is all things to all men, but one who is his plain and simple self to everybody. He should be a hard-working man. He should be a man who has taken orders himself and who consequently knows how to command. He should be a man who is not afraid of responsibility. He should be a man who puts principles above expediency; who is not afraid to speak his mind; who keeps his word; who does and says, not what he thinks is the smart thing or the popular thing, but the honest thing, the thing he thinks is right. Above all, he must be a fighting man, one who has proved beyond doubt that he is willing to sacrifice all he has and is for a cause which is great.

Illinois has such a man. The Republican party has such a man. He is Col. Frank Knox. In our opinion, the Republican party should lose no time in concentrating all its energies behind him.

Story by HAL COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

Wee Duncy shouted, "This is rare. I've made a hit with this big bear. At first, I thought he'd chew me up, but now I am all right.

"I really was near scared to death, and he ran me right out of breath. This is a happy ending to a most unusual plight."

Brave Scouty laughed and then replied, "'Twas funny, lad, the way you tried to get away from bruin. Why, you didn't have a chance.

"We would have rescued you, you see, but you were safe as you could be. The bear's a real tame pet. Before we're through, we'll see him dance."

* * *

"That's right," the old prospector said. "I've pounded tricks into his head. I found him when he was a cub. He was not hard to train.

"By day and night I worked away. Real patience, tots, is bound to pay. It wasn't long until I found my work was not in vain."

Then Goldy said, "If he's so good, I would be tickled if I could ride on his back a little while. Would I be safe and sound?"

"Of course you would," came the reply. "Don't be afraid. Go on and try. I feel real certain that he will not flop you to the ground."

* * *

"Oh, let me join you," Dotty cried. "I, too, would like a little ride. Somebody hold the big bear still until we climb aboard."

"Aw," Windy said, "he will stand still. Climb on right now and get your thrill." The two girls did, and shortly, "Giddyap," brave Scouty roared.

My, what a funny sight to see. The bear ran 'round quite merrily. Both of the girls bounced up and down, but managed not to fall.

Soon Duncy shouted, "It's my turn. Such riding is not hard to learn." The big bear stopped his running when he heard his master call.

DIXON BOY ON COMMITTEE FOR MOCK MEETING

(Telegraph Special Service)

Evanston, Ill., April 13—Harry Lazier of Dixon has been appointed to a committee of the mock political convention to be held April 24 and 25 at Northwestern university.

The mock ceremony, a take-off on the national presidential conventions, has become an institution at Northwestern, having been given, with the exception of 1932, for the past twelve years.

The various nominees' campaigns, including speeches, parades and the usual fan-fare attendin a national convention, will add realism to the scene.

In executing a program of this type, the students become acquainted with the methods employed in a national meeting, and a more permanent interest in political affairs is aroused.

Lazier, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Austin Lazier, lives at 203 E. McKinney street, Dixon, and is a graduate of the Dixon high school. Enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts as a sophomore, he is a member of Wranglers fraternity. He was appointed to the editorial board of the Daily Northwestern the beginning of this semester.

ADVICE TO WOMEN

'ALL women at some period of their lives need a strengthening tonic like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The young woman who suffers from monthly pains, the expectant mother who has nausea and other disagreeable symptoms, and the middle-aged woman who experiences 'heat flashes' should try this tonic. Mrs. Mary St. Clair of 1561 54th St., Kenosha, Wis., said: "I felt miserable from dizziness and headache. I could neither eat nor sleep and always felt tired-out. I was hardly able to be up. I hadn't taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription very long before I showed signs of improvement and a few bottles helped me greatly." Buy now!

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

VIVID and devastating are the etchings and paintings of Francisco Jose Goye y Lucientes, master painter of Spain, whom the world of art best knows simply as Goya. Almost from his birth in 1746 he grew up rebellious and satirical toward all injustices of the time—the Inquisition, the invasion of Napoleon and the Bourbon rule that he despised.

Well built and powerful, he entered the bull ring and later set down the cruelties of bullfighting in line and in color. He was nearly 30 when he married the sister of another painter and he outlived all but one of his 20 children.

Goya's emotional career was only partially checked by deafness, but he continued to paint sarcastic attacks on war and those who conducted it. He even went into voluntary exile in France as a protest against conduct of Spain's ruling class, and there he died in 1828, at the age of 82. In 1930, Spain issued a beautiful set of stamps in his memory. One is shown here.

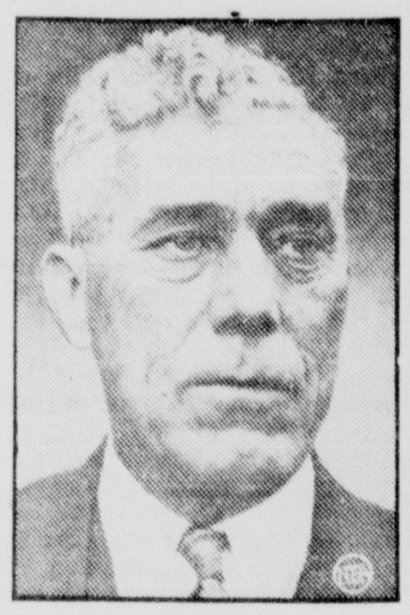
Principals in Tampa Lashing Trial

Judge Robert T. Dewell



Eugene F. Poulnot

Top photo, John R. Bridges; left below, C. W. Carlisle; right, C. A. Brown.

In a tense atmosphere, with feeling running high, trial of the Tampa, Fla., flogging cases was started, with 11 men defendants on charges of kidnaping and flogging three radical political party leaders, one of whom died. First of the defendants to face trial were three former policemen, C. A. Brown, John D. Bridges, and C. W. Carlisle, accused specifically of kidnaping Eugene F. Paulnot. Decision on plea for a venue change was delayed by Judge Robert Dewell, until he could determine if the trio could be assured a fair trial in Tampa.

DAILY HEALTH

EMOTIONS AND DISEASE.

We know that strong emotions may deeply alter the workings of the body, producing such effects as nausea, diarrhea, palpitation of the heart, etc. These effects are of a temporary nature, and are technically classed as reversible alterations.

However, we also know that strong emotions may in time produce permanent, organic alterations in the body of the so-called irreversible type.

Precisely how strong emotions may cause irreversibly bodily changes is, however, not as yet clearly established.

To this problem Professor Sven Ingvar recently made an interesting contribution. We know, he pointed out, that the brain is connected with the glands of internal secretion, and with the internal organs, through the vegetative nervous system. The latter consists of a complex of nerves distributed throughout the chest and abdomen and connected with their contents. Emotions, then, arising in the brain may by way of the sympathetic nervous system affect the functions of the internal organs and the glands of internal secretion.

Assuming an abnormal stimulation and inhibition of the muscles of the tubular organs (the intestines, for example) a cramp or spasm will arise at some point. This spasm causes a local anemia, which, is sufficiently intense and sufficiently prolonged, may lead to local ulceration. According to Dr. Ingvar gastric ulceration might, in part at least, be explained on the basis of this mechanism.

Similiarly, a cramp at the outlet of the gall-bladder (constricting the duct through which the bile is poured into the intestinal tract) may lead to the stagnation of bile and the formation of gallstones.

This hypothesis offers an ingenious explanation of how strong emotions may lead to organic body changes. Further study and experiment, however, are necessary to prove its validity.

Cute little dude rancherets they have in California, you'll notice. Especially so is this trim young lady, in the several gallon hat and the rough outdoor raiment. _for Digestion's sake...smoke Camels

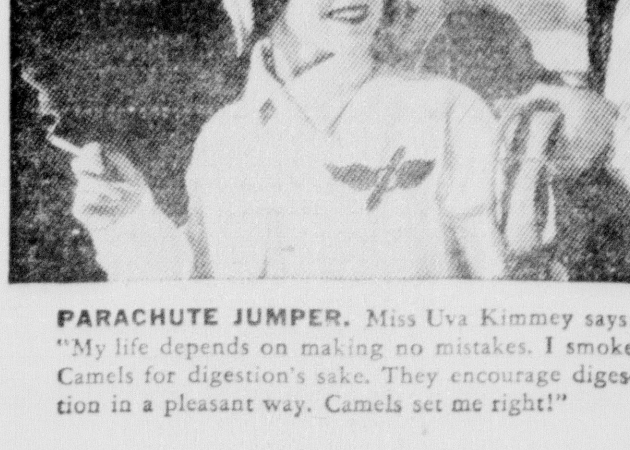
Copyright, 1936, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

BARONIAL DINING at the Winter Place Tavern in Boston. Theodore Roosevelt, Enrico Caruso, Henry Cabot Lodge praised its famous fare. Here Camels reign supreme. Nick Stuhl (left), maître d'hôtel, says: "Camels have the gift of making great dishes more enjoyable. Camels are the most popular cigarette at the Winter Place Tavern."

MEASURING THE EFFECT on digestion of smoking Camels (above). Delicate machines measure the flow of digestive secretions. The evidence shows that smoking a Camel increases the secretion of digestive fluids. The importance of this extra secretion in facilitating digestion is a matter of common knowledge. So smoke Camels... for digestion's sake...and for their costlier tobaccos. Camels set you right!



PARACHUTE JUMPER. Miss Uva Kimmey says: "My life depends on making no mistakes. I smoke Camels for digestion's sake. They encourage digestion in a pleasant way. Camels set me right!"

WORKING AGAINST TIME. Bob Duffey, steam-shovel operator, says: "Work comes first—eating, second. You grab a bite when you can. But trust Camels to make even a quick meal taste good and feel good."

Smoking Camels Promotes Enjoyment of Good Food and Stimulates Digestion

Our nervous modern life often affects digestion. Mental effort—physical rush—slow down the flow of the digestive fluids. Smoking Camels restores and increases this necessary flow.

Scientific research definitely confirms the fact that Camels encourage digestion in this pleasant way. Enjoy Camels as much as you like. They never frazzle your nerves.

Costlier Tobaccos!

● Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

SPOKE FOR GUNNING

Speech delivered by Charles W. Boyden, Saturday night, Over station WLS on behalf of Senior Thomas P. Gunning of Princeton:

"In speaking on behalf of the candidacy of Senator Gunning for Governor of Illinois I am assuming that a majority of the voters of this state really want as their chief executive a man whose character is above reproach, who is experienced in public affairs and who commands the utmost respect of every one who knows him. If I am correct in my assumption and if the truth about Senator Gunning can be made known to the voters, there is no doubt but that at the primaries on next Tuesday he will receive an overwhelming majority and become the Republican nominee for governor.

I live in Senator Gunning's home county, not far from the farm on which he was born. I have known him intimately for many years and know that he not only has ability but that he also has a magnified sense of his responsibility as a citizen. He has a conscience that keeps him true to the principles of honesty both in word and deed. He has the courage to do the right at any cost.

Mayor 12 Years

For twelve years he served his home city of Princeton as its mayor with a success that gave to his admiration great distinction. He is now serving his second term as Senator from the 37th District and it can be said without fear of successful contradiction that no member of the state Senate has a truer appreciation of his duties or has fought more valiently in the cause of good government. His voice is never stilled by the urge of political expediency nor hushed by the claims of partisanship.

Illinois stands in the forefront among the states of the nation. Our agricultural, mining, industrial and commercial interests are of vast proportions. We have a population of eight million people with varied interests. Some of us live on farms and some in large urban centers. Our problems both social and economic are as varied as our occupations. As citizens of this great state we need and are entitled to have the best government possible. In a democracy the voters get what the majority wants. We can have the best if we elect to public office men of sterling worth, trained ability and with that rugged honesty of purpose to serve all the people which raises them above the rank of the politician and makes of them statesmen in the best sense of that term.

Needs Loyal on prove of every such objective.

It makes little difference whether our governor is a farmer or a city man, a down state or a Chicagoan. What we want is a loyal son of Illinois who knows no Egypt or no Cook county. A man who is big enough to represent every portion of the state and all classes of her citizens. A man who has no thought of building a political machine or serving the interests of any group but whose sole aim is to give us one and all the kind of administration which we have every right to expect. Senator Gunning is that man.

If the people of this state truly want good government they have the opportunity to get it by nominating him next Tuesday and electing him in November.

We hear this candidate and that making extravagant promises as to what they will do if elected. With some we have had experience and their record is not without blemish. Others are without experience in public office and know little of the duties and requirements of the position they seek. Senator Gunning's record is an open book and is as clean as a hound's tooth. He has scarcely missed a session since elected to the Senate, has expressed himself on every important piece of legislation coming before that body, and he knows his way about in the Capitol at Springfield.

No Bombastic Claims

Those of you who have heard Senator Gunning speak have already learned that he is making no bombastic claims of his ability to bring about an Utopia. He realizes the need for better schools, for better care of our dependents, for form to market roads and for all the other improvements that this and that aspirant to the governorship promises to provide if elected. You may be sure no one is more sincerely committed to all these and other worthy objects than he is. If nominated and elected he would enthusiastically recommend and approve of every such objective.

Senator Gunning also knows about the burden of taxation. About that rapidly increasing burden which the extravagant use and waste of public funds and the ever increasing host of job holders has fastened about the necks of the citizens of this state. One of our major problems both state and national is the ever mounting cost of government. With Senator Gunning as governor the people of this state could rest assured that public funds would not be wasted and that every state employee would render full and efficient service. Under him there would be no padded payrolls nor the multiplying of bureaus and departments. He knows the value of a dollar whether it comes out of the state treasury or out of his own pocket. Economy is a watchword with him and he would demand a type of service on the part of every employee which would make a state job anything but a sinecure.

We cannot maintain our system of schools and charitable institutions, build roads and maintain and police them, supervise our banks and insurance companies, provide courts of law and peace enforcing officers, keep our state militia adequate and provide the various and sundry services which we demand and require of our state without the payment of taxes. Taxes are the price we pay for the privilege of living in this "land of the free"—and none of us should object to paying his fair share. But we have the right to expect that taxes shall be kept at the lowest possible rate. That the money we pay as taxes—and every dollar the state receives is from taxation of some form—shall be expended wisely and economically and always honestly. This the citizens of this state may confidently expect with Senator Gunning occupying the office of governor.

Reason for Candidacy

Now why is he seeking this office? I can tell you that it is not from any desire for personal aggrandizement nor is he ambitious for power. Neither is his candidacy being fostered by any group nor is he being dominated by a powerful metropolitan newspaper. He has no enemies to punish or friends to reward with jobs.

He was first urged to become a candidate by the people of his own district who had followed his career both as mayor of Princeton and in the Senate. Through all his years of service he has exhibited that conscientious devotion to duty and had manifest that honesty and courage which distinguish him from the ordinary office seeking politician. We recognized in him the qualities which we believed the right thinking people of this state wanted in their public officials.

With full realization of the responsibilities of the office and with only an honest desire to be of service to his day and generation, he consented to enter the campaign. From that day he has received encouragement from people in all walks of life and from every portion of the state. He has been endorsed by farmers, industrial workers, teachers and business men. Friends of good government everywhere are rallying to his support. And he is in the race to stay.

No Huge Fund

He has no huge campaign fund at his disposal but, thank God, he has a lofty conception of his obligations to his state and is thoroughly imbued with the idea that "a public office is a public trust." He is uncompromisingly honest and is eminently qualified in ability and experience for the high office he seeks.

He is in the prime of life, not too old, practical minded, mature in judgment and endowed with that fund of common sense which made great Illinois' most illustrious son, Abraham Lincoln.

Seldom have the voters of any state had the opportunity to cast their ballot for so outstanding a man. Ours is the opportunity on next Tuesday to cast our ballots for a true public servant. If we want the highest type of a man for our governor we will cast our primary ballot for Senator Thomas P. Gunning and have the privilege of voting in November for a candidate of whom we can be truly proud and who will lead the ticket to a glorious victory.

TO WRITE NEW BOOK

Joliet—When a compilation of Saturday's vote showed he ran last in a field of three seeking a place on the high school board, Josiah Watson, former geography teacher, announced he would turn his attention to completing a book "My Child Goes to School." Watson gained public attention recently when he withdrew his two daughters from school, criticizing teaching methods as "mechanized" and advocating general use of a new phonetic alphabet of his own invention.

GARDEN GOSSIP by PETER HENDERSON

Cultivation

MAKE THE care of your garden a part of the day's routine. A few moments each day will then be sufficient.

• • • •

FREQUENT CULTIVATION helps wonderfully in getting soil in good condition; deep cultivation is often called "poor man's manure." Spring and fall spadings are therefore desirable.

• • • •

TWENTY MINUTES or so a day with a hoe should keep a good sized garden free from weeds.

• • • •

SEEDS DO NOT need rich soil. Fertility is not necessary for germination but is needed after the young plants have started into growth.

• • • •

EVERGREENS SHOULD HAVE plenty of water. Spray the foliage frequently to wash off the dust and dirt and to keep down the attacks of the red spider.

• • • •

IN SPRAYING be sure that you cover the underside of the branches. It is useless to attempt to spray on a windy day.

• • • •

IF YOU HAVE an open fireplace, use oak and save the ashes. Hardwood ashes are an excellent fertilizer and when purchased are expensive.

• • • •

USED COFFEE grounds make an effective remedy for ants. Most ant remedies are poisonous but coffee is harmless to the plants and the ants do not like it.

• • • •

DO YOUR TRANSPLANTING on a dull day as otherwise the plants will require shading until established.

• • • •

LEVEL ALL beds carefully as otherwise there will be depressions that will collect water.

• • • •

EVERY IMPROVEMENT that you make on your grounds is really an investment that can be measured in the dollars and cents of increased value of the property.

• • • •

WHERE YOU WANT mass color one of the most satisfactory annuals is the new Spire Larkspur. They are excellent for cutting and have a wide range of color.

Commissioner of Ogle Co. Scouts Once Lone Scout

This is the fourth of a series of articles on Lee and Ogle county Scouters and Scoutmasters who have been in service five years or more.

At Kable Bros. printing plant in Mt. Morris, if one tours through the building, one can observe hard at work over the type cases and forms a tall, blond young man in the 30's with a fair complexion and dreamy blue eyes. He looks like a Viking but it doesn't take the observer long ot discover he's really a Scotchman lacking only the kilts.

He is D. Cameron Findley, ex-Scoutmaster of Troop 66, Mt. Morris and at present commissioner of Ogle county Scouting. "Cam" was a Lone Scout in his boyhood days for several years under the plan organized by D. Boyce, former Chicago publisher, who was instrumental in bringing Scouting to this country from England over 25 years ago.

Findley later became affiliated with Scouting organizations in Indianapolis, Ind., his home state, and came to Mt. Morris where he assumed the Scoutmastership of Troop 66 in April, 1930. At this work he diligently served in that capacity until April, 1935. He has served as commissioner of Ogle county since 1932 and is now conducting an experiment in Rural Scouting that will bring the work to farm bays. As chairman of the Rural Scouting committee he is receiving commandation for his splendid work in that role.

"Cam" is an Eagle Scout, has received the Silver Beaver award, and has earned the five year training awards getting his Scoutmaster's key last year. Withal, "Cam" is a good fellow and a loyal friend. He can be depended upon in Scout work, the best recommendation anyone could give him for his conscientiousness.

Where His Fancy Lightly Turneds

As signs of spring, green buds and chortling robins are all very well. But what better harbinger is there than this scene, of a barefoot lad and his dog, on a river bank, waiting eagerly for that cork to start bobbing? Workaday grownups may turn to the calendar to learn when spring begins, but Young America senses it in that lure of the old fishing grounds.

Interclass Track Meet To Be Contest Between Juniors, Seniors Teams

Frosh, Sophs Given Little Chance of Taking Crown

Seniors, Sophomores and Freshmen yearlings will strive Thursday and Friday to wrest the interclass track and field championship from the Juniors on the Dixon high school field, the meet being the first of the season in which Coach A. C. Bowers will have a chance to size up his prospects for the spring.

Talent seems to be concentrated largely in the Junior and Senior ranks. Of the thirteen lettermen returning for this year's track and field team, six are Seniors and seven are Juniors. Several new prospects may appear in the Sophomore and Freshmen ranks to warrant the attention of the coaches.

In the Senior lineup will be Rube Thompson who will race in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, Art Klein, Louis Schumm, a high and low hurdler, Leroy Dunphy, 440 yard and half miler, Bob Stitzel, a distance man also, and Bob Krug in the weights. The Junior team will be buttressed by Marv Bebuck, relay team member and 880 yard man, Laverne McMillion in the hurdles, Lloyd Miller in the weights, Nelson, J. Swain, and J. Wetter.

Schumm vs McMillion

The hurdles will be a hotly contested affair between the Junior and Senior candidates, Schumm placing second only to McMillion last year. "Mickey" scored 60¼ points in these events last spring for the entire season and now that the hurdles have been lowered this year he is hoping to break more records. Miller and Krug will stage a battle in the shotput. Ankeny is expected to give the Sophomores a few points in the shotput and discus throw. Don Nicklaus will be seen in the dashes for the Soph team.

Track equipment at the high school has all been repainted by D. C. Austin's manual training department and is out on the field ready for use. More candidates are appearing for track every night.. A. C. Bowers said last week. In practice Friday afternoon Bob Underwood who is vacationing at his home here from his studies at Drake university, was in his track suit throwing the javelin and demonstrating his technique to the boys. Although it was his first attempt at javelin throwing this year he tossed the spear over 160 feet several times. Last year as a senior in Dixon high, he shattered the conference record with a toss of 170 ft. 2 inches.

Lee May Be Forced To Share Lead In Billiard Tourney

New York, April 13.—(AP)—Play in the world's amateur three cushion billiard championship was due for renewal today with the probability that Eddie Lee of the New York A. C., now leading in the competition, would have to share first place with another cueist before nightfall.

Lee led the parade with three wins and no defeats but in the first match of the afternoon Hendrick Robyns of Holland, who has two wins and no defeats, was due to compete with Emile Zaman of Belgium who has lost two matches and not yet scored a victory. Robyns was favored to keep Zaman in last place and advance into a tie for the lead himself.

Talty Migrates To Plum Hollow Season Begins

Ted Talty, armed with crutches, golf sticks, and other implements of warfare, set out this morning for Plum Hollow to open the rolling, nine-hole golf course for the spring and summer season.

Talty is feeling fine, although his mending leg is still bothering him a bit. He says it can forecast the weather accurately which means it must pain him on occasion. Hence the crutches. The golf clubs are for those he must please at his caddy house at Tee No. 1 when the crowds start to come.

Tall golfers and short golfers, thin golfers and fat golfers may now avail themselves of the opportunity to enjoy a summer on the links.

PENNANT RACE LOADED WITH EXPLOSIVES

Four Teams Figure On Springing the Biggest Upsets

New York, April 13—(AP)— A pennant race, so exciting and close that one injury may decide its outcome, opens tomorrow over the National League baseball front with St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago's spectacular Cubs one-two favorites to capture the prize they have held between them eight times out of the last 10 years.

Ranking behind the two favorites are the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates, who are expected to be hot on the trail of the flag. None of the circuit's other four—Brooklyn, Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Boston—is granted even an outside chance of winning.

Yet, as the teams near the barrier for the gruelling 154-game race, the setup is ideal for one of the league's greatest upsets. Lack of first class replacement material, probably the greatest void since the league started, makes it so. Every contender has one or more danger spots that threaten to blow up its chances as high as Coogan's bluff.

Cards Picked

A concensus of the experts picks the Cardinals, whose hopes rest on the Dean brothers, Frankie Frisch and pitcher Bud Parmalee, ex-Giant hand. Of the four, Frisch undoubtedly is the danger spot. Should the Cardinal boss and second baseman fall victim to an injury or be unable to play 100 or more games, the chances of the Gas House Gang would be reduced considerably. With all their far flung farms, the Cardinals still haven't been able to find a man capable of coming close to filling Frisch's shoes.

The Cubs, who came from almost nowhere with their unforgettable 21-game winning streak to win last season, appear well fortified for a winning bid, but the pitching is uncertain. Charlie Root can't be expected to come back with 15 victories again. That's too much to expect from a 37-year-old veteran. The Cubs may yet land pitcher Curt Davis from the Phillies for money and outfielder Chuck Klein, but in the meantime Manager Charlie Grimm, back at first to give his team more punch, is a worried man over the possibilities of one injury to his pitching staff.

Bill Terry, whose left knee is so sore that no one expects him to play more than half the season, is the key man to the Giant hopes, with him, the Giants would be hard to trim now that they have plugged up the second base hole with Burgess Whitehead. Without him, the defensive and offensive ability of the team is slower and less potent.

Pirates Rate urprising

Pittsburgh rates to be the biggest surprise of the race. Not only to the Pirates have sufficient reserve material and a well rounded pitching staff, but they have a first class catcher in Al Todd, obtained during the winter deals from the Phillies. If you like a good longshot, the advice is to take a flyer on the Pirates, who seem stirred out of their lethargy at last.

Second division looms for the rest of the clubs-Brooklyn, Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Boston with the Dodgers and Reds fighting it out for top place in that lower region.

Of the four, Brooklyn may be the big surprise. Since last season, when he had a jig-saw puzzle that puzzled even the fans, Casey Stengel has been working hard to assemble a winning ball club. He has a potentially capable pitching staff that may cause a rumpus in the league from top to bottom before the campaign ends.

Outside of the United States and Canada only 973,571 autos were manufacttured in 1935.

TIGER HUNT TO OPEN TUESDAY IN FOUR PARKS

Big American Loop Baseball Chase Gets Started

Chicago, April 13—(AP)—"Open season" on those Tigers starts tomorrow.

To the roar of dyed-in-wool fons whose enthusiasm is seldom noticeable chilled by open-day weather, and who may number upwards of 80,000, eight American League baseball clubs get another season under way Tuesday afternoon. And most of them will be gunning for the Detroit Tigers, champions of the world.

Always a gala event, tomorrow's inaugural has been especially awaited by the sport's fan because it will start solution of a few of the smokiest puzzles ever to get in the eyes of the "Hot Stove League" fans. Will the Tiger prowl proudly through the league's jungle for a third straight year, or will its talons be clipped by the Indians from Cleveland, the money-jingling Boston Red Sox or the once-powerful New York Yankees?

The open day bill sends the Tigers against the Indians at Cleveland, with 25,000 fans expected to see the game if favorable weather prevails. The Red Sox entertain the little-regarded Philadelphia Athletics in Boston, where 20,000 fans, most of them hoping to get a close-up view of the Sox plush lining, may click the turn-stiles.

Browns Meet White Sox

The trouble-making St. Louis Browns come to Chicago take on the White Sox before an expected gathering of 15,000 and the Yankees open in Washington against the youthful Senators, with President Roosevelt expected to be among a crowd of about 20,000.

If optimism of managers means very much, this year's race will be so hot the smoke may blind the batsmen in the American League. Mickey Cochrane sees an "excellent chance" for his Tigers; Joe Cronin wants only pitching support for his Red Sox; Joe McCarthy says his Yankees "have as good a chance as any club," and Steve O'Neil says flatly Cleveland "is the team to beat."

The teams shooting at the pennant won't find the Detroit Tigers easily knocked down this season. Al Simmons, acquired from Chicago, may give the club its first powerful outfield in years. The champions have reserve strength, something they lacked in successful campaigns in 1934 and 1935. They have a fine pitching staff, and if they dodge the injury jinx as they did the last two years it looks as though they'll repeat.

Boston's expensive array of established talent—Foxx, Manush, McNair, Cronin, Cramer, Rick Ferrell—may furnish the fireworks. Last season, however, Wes Ferrell and Lefty Grove won 45 games, and it may be on their ability to repeat that owner Tom Yawkey's dreams of a flag rest.

New Indian Spirit

Cleveland, harmonized under the leadership of Steve O'Neil, appears to have the pitching to put the Indians in the thick of the fight. Hal Trosky's ability to come back may mean the difference between a spot in the first division or at the top of the heap. Johnny Allen, pitcher acquired from the Yanks, should help the tribe.

New York stacks up as the dark horse of the circuit. Lefty Gomez had a bad season last year and the team was slowed down by injuries. At that the Yanks were only four games behind the Tigers when the 1935 season closed and this year the Ruppertmen, if Gomez comes back and a few creaky joints don't buckle, may return to the top spot they held so often.

St. Louis, with punch in the bats of West, Colean, Solters and Bottomley, and the Chicago White Sox, who may come up with some excellent pitching, will cause trouble all along the line. Washington appears to lack pitching and the Philadelphia Athletics can make baseball history, if the betting fraternity is right, by climbing out of the league cellar.

Davis Cup Netmen Seek North-South Tourney Victory

Pinehurst, N. C., April 13.—(AP)—The United States' Davis Cup team, fresh from a rout of the Mexican players in the zone series at Houston, Tex., moved toward Pinehurst today for the 18th annual North and South tennis tournament.

The tournament opened today, but the Davis Cup players, most of whom drew first round byes, were not expected until later in the week. Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, of Atlanta, who did not reach his top form at Houston, decided to pass up the competition here.

Wilmer Allison, the American captain, will compete in the doubles with John Van Ryn, his partner. Donald Budge and Gene Mako planned to compete in both the singles and the doubles.

Budge hit his mid-season stride in Houston yesterday, defeating Daniel Hernandez 6-1, 6-1, 6-3, but it took Grant well over two hours to dispose of Esteban Reyes, top-ranking Mexican star, 6-4, 13-11, 6-2.

BROWNS IN LEAD OF EXHIBITION BALL STRUGGLE

Played Only Half of Games With Major League Teams

New York, April 13.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns, having played only half of their games with major league teams, today were at the top of the standing in springtime's exhibition baseball.

In combat in their own league the Browns wound up with an even score, having won four and lost as many, while they broke even in their inter-league play also with one victory and one defeat. Their all-games score however showed them winning 15 games while dropping five; the five they lost to big league teams, and this gave them an average of .750.

In second place were the Washington Senators who won 13 and lost seven, 14 of their games having been played against major opposition. The Senators won four and lost two against teams in their own league and won five and lost three against National league clubs.

In third place were the Cleveland Indians with 14 won and eight lost while the Cards were in fourth position tied with the Giants with 17 wins and 10 defeats each. Twenty of the Giants' games, however, were with major league teams while the Cards played 15 with big leaguers.

The Athletics were in the cellar with 11 victories against 13 defeats, having lost six and won one in their games with National league teams.

DETROIT HAS A NEW CROWN; STANLEY CUP

Many of Champions Hail From The Auto Capital

Detroit, April 13.—(AP)—Detroit's championship family, comparable to the brood of the old woman in the shoe, moved over to make room for a pair of newcomers from the hockey rinks today.

Home from the last front, the Detroit Red Wings fondled the Stanley Cup, symbol of the world's hockey championship, while the "kid brother" sextet, the Olympics, toyed with the Teddy Oke trophy.

The Olympics beat Windsor's Bulldogs, 1 to 0, last night, in the climax of International league playoffs. In the audience were the Red Wings, who had beaten Toronto for the Stanley Cup Saturday night, 3 to 2.

Detroit's champions range from the Tigers on the ball field, the Lions on the professional gridiron and Joe Louis, popularly regarded as uncrowned heavyweight boxing titlist, down to Jake Ankrom's national amateur three-cushion billiard championship.

THE moon crosses the meridian on an average of 51 minutes later every day. It actually varies in retardation from 38 minutes to 66 minutes. If it rises at 11:30 p. m. one night, it will not rise at all the following day.

TEACHERS ASSN. CONTINUING TO CARRY ON DRIVE

$16,000,000 of Funds Appropriated in 5 Years is Unpaid

Further agitation for state aid to Illinois schools is being made in the pamphlet "Shortages and Delinquencies in Payments Owed by the State" issued by the Illinois State Teachers Assosiation and prepared by the public relations committee of the Rock River division of the association.

$16,000,000 Unpaid

Of the appropriations made to the schools of Illinois from state funds during the past five years, over $16,000,000 remains unpaid and will not be paid unless special legislation is passed to take care of it. Since all schools figure on the state contribution to complete their budget, and many districts are unable to finance their schools without this assistance from the state treasury, it seems that the legislature should take immediate steps to make up this shortage.

The appropriations for the years 1931, 1932 and 1933 were short over $6,000,000 because of the delinquency in tax payments, and because assessed valuations were cut sharply, especially in Cook county, after the state school tax rate had been fixed.

There is a deficit of almost $3,000,000 in the appropriations made since 1929 for excess costs of schooling, delinquent, deaf, blind and crippled children.

Sales Tax Diverted

The state appropriation for distribution to the schools in 1934 was $10,500,000, to be derived from the sales tax. For the first eight months of the fiscal year, however, all the sales tax revenue was diverted into relief channels, and the schools received nothing. The shortage was $7,000,000 and it has never been paid.

The state appropriation for 1935 was raised from $10,500,000 to $13,000,000 but the distribution for the first month of the fiscal year was made on the basis of the old appropriation of $10,500,000, representing a shortage of over $200,000.

Our schools are a most important guarantee of the continuance of our political, economic and social structure and they should not be permitted to suffer from indifference, carelessness or political manipulation.

Roosevelt's 'Model Community' Is Now 'Deserted Village'

When he wrote the "Deserted Village", Oliver Goldsmith had never seen the houses on "Liberty Road" in this Resettlement project near Dayton, Ohio, but he had the right idea.

Why Worry About Waste and Extravagance? It's Only the Taxpayers' Money!

DAYTON, O.—Dayton's much-heralded adventure in communal home making under the auspices of Franklin D. Roosevelt's rural rehabilitation program has come to an inglorious and soft-pedaled conclusion.

The dozen or more families who moved into the homestead unit on Liberty road, seven miles west of Dayton, with bright hopes of a cozy home, a few acres, and cows and pigs and chickens, are scattered to the winds. The original farm, with its crestfallen line of houses, is today a deserted village which pastures a few goats, and is studded with abandoned and uncompleted homes.

On January 15, the government, through one of its subsidiary New Deal corporations, took over a total of $21,806 in notes and obligations for cash and materials advanced to the colonists, and also assumed title to the entire property, thus absorbing a loss of more than $30,000, in addition to the large amounts expended for supervision and administration. Settlers remaining on the tract are to be reimbursed for expenditures incurred by them, and have all agreed to seek new homes in more favorable surroundings. The property itself now becomes one of the numerous "assets" of Dr. Tugwell's Resettlement administration.

Another Tugwell Utopia.

Originally a grant of $50,000 was made by the government for the purpose of establishing the project. The idea was that about 35 families were to be located on the tract; loaned sufficient funds to build homes; encouraged in establishing a more or less Utopian community in which their earnings, outside of the colony, would be supplemented by gardening, poultry, modest dairying and so on.

Now that the project has fallen upon its present evil days, it is announced that a survey is to be made by a corps of engineers to determine whether or not the land is suitable for the purposes intended.

One of the great difficulties has been water supply. Wells have been driven all over the place, but only surface water discovered and this far from sufficient for the needs of the colonists.

Families Leave in Disgust.

In the palmy days of the project, a dozen families were established on the area. Six of them managed to struggle through nearly two years of experimentation. The half-finished and never occupied home pictured here, which the Curtis Bailey family started to build, got almost to the roof stage before the government stopped supplying funds for its construction. Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Anderson, who came to Dayton from Illinois, attracted by the bright picture painted of possibilities of the Dayton homestead, winterec three small children in another uncompleted, but far more elaborate dwelling, then gave up in disgust at the prospect of going through another winter in a home which had an elaborate brick exterior, but lacked either floors or window sashes. Gas and phone service were provided, if desired, but water was lacking. No cows were maintained by the colonists, but the area did provide pasturage for goats.

The colony did not fail through any lack of attention by sociological experts, or failure of Dayton citizens to cooperate. The house in which the Andersons lived was originally built by Charlotte Mary Conover Jones, once secretary of the National League of Women Voters, who resided on the homestead for some time, but finally left, complaining of lack of proper support by the government in establishing the colony.

Ralph Borsodi, prominent idealist, now conducting a "School of Living" at Suffern, New York, was also one of the early leaders who had many difficulties during his stay, and finally gave up the enterprise as one which, to say the least, had gotten off on the wrong foot.

Ballyhoo Suddenly Dies.

The Dayton colony was one of the first of the Roosevelt administration resettlement projects, and was given nation-wide publicity in its early stages. The abandonment, however, has not been given equal attention. In fact, when Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt visited Dayton recently, she did not visit the farm.

At present, the government has suspended activities, and the whole ambitious project has been abandoned. In Dayton, few expect it to be revived. A weed covered wilderness, populated by a few stray goats, more pathetic than any deserted village that Goldsmith ever imagined, remains as a reminder of a dream that turned out to be a nightmare for the optimistic American citizens who once had faith and hope in regimentalization and planned economy.

What will happen during 1936 nobody seems to know.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death real?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 12.

The Golden Text was, "All flesh shall see the salvation of God" (Luke 3:6).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Doth a fountain send forth at the same place sweet water and bitter? Can the fig tree, my brethren, bear olive berries? either a vine, figs? so can no fountain both yield salt water and fresh" (James 3:11, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Did God, Truth, create error? No! 'Doth a fountain send forth at the same place sweet water and bitter?' God being everywhere and all-inclusive, how can He be absent or suggest the absence of omnipresence and omnipotence? How can there be more than all?" (p. 287).

BEGIN HERE TODAY

TOBY RYAN, 19, is a photographic model, posing for photographs to be used in advertisements. Unknown at first, she is soon in high demand in the studios, particularly after she is chosen as "The Hillyer Soap Girl."

Toby shares an apartment with HARRIET HOLM, another model, engaged to marry CLYDE SABIN, whom Toby distrusts.

Wealthy TIM JAMIESON showers Toby with attentions for a time, and then seems to forget her. Toby's oldest friend is BILL BRANDT, who works in an advertising agency. She is fond of Bill, but has never thought of him romantically.

JAY HILLYER, president of the Hillyer company, sees Toby posing for some photographs. He takes her to dinner and later she has several other engagements with him.

Toby and Harriet arrange to meet for a shopping trip. While Toby is waiting, a shabby-looking man comes up to her and says, "You're coming with me!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIX

TOBY drew back. "But you're mistaken!" she said. "You must think I'm someone else—"

"I'm not mistaken." The man's eyes gleamed dangerously. "You're my Dream Girl. I've been looking everywhere for you and now that I've found you, you're not going to get away. We're going to be married. Now. This afternoon!"

Toby knew now where she had seen him. It was the man who had followed her that afternoon a few weeks before. She had slipped into a store and evaded him.

But she could not do that now. As though reading her thoughts, the man caught her arm. "Come on!" he said. "You're going with me—!"

Toby tried to free her arm. This was insane, a nightmare! She was on one of the busiest streets in New York in the middle of the afternoon. There must be dozens of people about—she looked to the right and to the left. There had been dozens of people about a moment before. Now, suddenly, there was no one.

"But you can't—!" she began.

"Oh, yes, I can. Dream Girl, I love you. Don't you understand? You're the one I've been searching for. We're going to go away together."

A madman, that was what he was! And he might be dangerous. He looked as though he would be dangerous. Toby raised frightened eyes. "Please!" she said. "You're hurting my arm—"

She tried again to draw away, but the man chuckled knowingly. "Oh, no!" he leered. "You're not going to get away from me this time. Come on—we've got to hurry."

He took a step forward, pulling at her arm roughly.

Panic-stricken, Toby forgot caution. She forgot everything except that somehow she must get away from this insane man. "No!" she cried. "No—!"

And then a figure hurled itself between her and the stranger. A voice snapped, "Take your hands off that girl!"

It was Marty Hiatt! Toby had no time to wonder where he had come from. Marty was there, beside her. She cried, "Oh, Marty, make him go away! Make him go!"

But the man with the gleaming eyes refused to move. Instead he said to Hiatt menacingly, "Look out!" A hand moved toward his pocket. Hiatt, quicker, shot a fist toward the man's jaw. There was a scream, the sound of someone running and suddenly Toby found herself surrounded by people, staring at her curiously, talking excitedly.

* * *

A POLICEMAN pushed his way into the crowd. "Here!" he said. "What's going on?"

"Watch out!" Marty Hiatt said. "He may have a gun—"

The stranger, however, was suddenly docile. He rubbed his chin, whimpering, as the policeman searched his pockets.

"No gun," the officer announced. "Now then, what's it all about?"

Toby felt a hand on her shoulder and turned. Harriet was beside her. "Oh," Toby breathed. "I'm glad you're here, Harriet."

"I've been here for five minutes," Harriet said, "but it took me this long to get to you." She slipped an arm around the other girl. "What in the world happened, Toby? Who is that terrible person?"

"I don't know." Tears of relief shone in Toby's eyes. She tried to wipe them away. "I don't know anything about him, except that he must be crazy—"

It was more than an hour afterward that the girls heard the full story. They had been allowed to go home in a cab when Hiatt and the stranger set off for the police station with the officer.

Toby tried to tell Harriet what had happened. "I looked for you," she said, "and you weren't in sight. Then I stopped to look at the store window—"

"They had some new square-toed pumps at Vandenmeyer's," Harriet explained. "I went in to try them on, and then I came out and ran into Marty.

"He ran ahead of me. It looked as though the fellow was trying to make you go somewhere—"

"I guess he was. He kept calling me 'Dream Girl' and saying he'd been trying to find me. That's how I knew he was crazy. Honestly, Harriet, I was scared stiff!"

"I should think you would have been. Are you sure it's the same fellow you saw that other time, the one who followed you?"

Toby nodded. "I'm sure of it. Oh, Harriet, if it hadn't been for Marty—!"

"Somebody else would have come along," Harriet said confidently. "I don't suppose the man was really dangerous, but I can certainly understand why you were frightened."

* * *

HIATT telephoned and presently dropped in to bring them a report. The stranger had been identified. He was the same one who, two years before, had followed a motion picture actress about, persisting that she was his fiancee. He had been arrested and committed to an institution, but had since been released.

"That was a little more serious—that affair of the movie actress," Hiatt said. "He had a gun then. Wasn't a very good marksman, because all he hit was the shade of a floor lamp."

"Oh, Marty!"

"Now, there isn't anything for you to worry about," Hiatt assured Toby. "They've got him locked up safely and he's going right back to the place where they sent him before. He won't find it so easy to get out again. By the way, his name is Jonas Huckleberry. What do you think of that?"

"Jonas Huckleberry!" Both girls spoke in chorus.

"Why, yes." Hiatt looked surprised. "Does that name mean anything to you?"

"Does it?" They told him about the letter Toby had received, signed "Jonas Huckleberry."

"Have you got it around still?" Hiatt asked. "If you have, I'll turn it over to the police."

But the letter written on pink notepaper had disappeared. Toby laughed about it, after Hiatt had gone. "So my first proposal," she said, "was from a crazy man."

"Don't worry. You'll get plenty more."

The excitement over Jonas Huckleberry continued for a day or two. Newspapers printed reports of the affair, with pictures of Toby. She didn't know how they got them. Bill Brandt telephoned and chided her about her 'nut' admirer. Jay Hillyer showed more concern. He seemed satisfied later that there was no reason for further alarm.

* * *

AT the Model League office Toby heard stories of other girls who had had somewhat similar experiences. The League did everything possible to protect models, under no circumstances giving out names or addresses, checking telephone calls, occasionally even taking legal measures. Now and then, however, as in Toby's case, this vigilance would be circumvented.

Presently everyone forgot about Jonas Huckleberry. Harriet was busier than ever with her shopping, counting the days until Clyde would be back. She and Toby both were to take part in a fashion show—an important one, for buyers.

The show was to be given at a hotel and there was a rehearsal in the morning. As usual, the climax of the affair was to be a wedding scene. Harriet was chosen for the bride.

Toby had to leave the rehearsal for another appointment, and stopped at the apartment on the way back. There was a letter for Harriet and she dropped it into her purse.

She did not think of the letter again until near the close of the show. A maid was helping Harriet into the ivory satin wedding gown. Toby, waiting in her bridesmaid costume, turned suddenly.

"Harriet," she said, "you're the loveliest bride I've ever seen."

Harriet smiled. "It's a beautiful dress, isn't it?"

"It is, and the way you look, wearing it, you'd certainly tempt any man into matrimony."

"But I don't want any man. I want a certain one—"

That was when Toby remembered the letter. Because, of course, it was from Clyde. She had recognized his handwriting. Toby said, "Heavens, darling, I brought you a letter and forgot all about it!"

She went to her hand bag, rummaging through it and came back. "Here it is," she said. "I'm terribly sorry I didn't think of it sooner."

"That's all right," Harriet smiled as she tore open the envelope.

Someone spoke to Toby and she crossed the room. It was several moments before she was back. She came up to Harriet, and stopped abruptly. "Harriet!" she exclaimed. "Harriet, what's happened?"

LEN SMALL, III IS CAMPAIGNING FOR GRAND-DAD

Wants Young Republicans to Know Ex-Gov. as He Really Is

Chicago.—A grandson of a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, carried a personal campaign for his grandfather into Chicago today after a stumping tour of several weeks in downstate, concluded at Rock Island last night.

The grandson is Len Small, 21, whose grandfather is Len Small, Kankakee publisher, and twice a former governor. He has concentrated his efforts on organizing young Republicans and emphasizing his grandparent's age will not be a handicap.

Len, Jr., who was 21 last May, will cast his first ballot next Tuesday at Kankakee in a precinct manned by his uncle, Budd L. Small, Republican committeeman of the West Kankakee precinct. He will vote for his grandfather for the Republican nomination for governor.

Has Toured State.

Young Small has been touring Illinois the last six weeks, urging young Republicans to support the former governor, whom he contends has just as much interest in young people of Illinois as any other candidate, despite the fact that he is a real veteran in politics.

"Granddad's strength always has been with the farmers and laborers," he said. "That is where the New Deal, which must be beaten in November, has made its greatest appeal. He never had the support of the silk stocking class."

Small, Jr., a son of Leslie Small, managing editor of the Kankakee Republican-News, is a law student at the University of Illinois, Urbana. He completed the regular college course last year. His personality is such that some day voters may find his own name on the ballot.

Working without fanfare of advance publicity, young Small received a welcome at Small headquarters in Rock Island last night far different than when arranging a previous visit.

On the prior occasion, he phoned from Sterling to tell J. L. Wells, local Small manager, that Len Small, Jr., was speaking and would be in Rock Island within an hour to meet the workers.

Thinking he was being kidded by an imposter, Wells asked, What's your mission?"

"I'm interested in getting young Republicans to know my granddad the way I know him," Small answered.

Baer Will Give Up Highballs For New Heavyweight Fling

San Francisco, April 13.—(AP)—Max Baer has given up highballs, beer and cigarets for a pipe with the announced intention of regaining the heavyweight title he lost to James J. Braddock.

Both the prize ring's late playboy and Manager Ancil Hoffman said today negotiations looking toward a Baer-Braddock fight in Madison Square Garden were well underway.

About the only catch, so Hoffman and Baer say, is the willingness of Ham Lorimer, former Baer manager, to accept $50,000 for settlement of his claims on Maxie's past earnings.

BOWLING MEET ENDS TONIGHT

Fifty Teams Driving for 1936 Crown at Indianapolis

Indianapolis, April 13.—(AP)—Competition in th five-man event of the American Bowling Congress will be ended tonight when approximately 50 teams take the drives in a final effort to win the 1936 world's championship team title.

The Falls City Hi Brus of Indianapolis are leading the field with 3,089 as the tournament reaches its closing stages.

Final rounds of doubles and singles will be run off tomorrow afternoon, after which the $108,670 prize melon will be divided.

Without Excitement. ..

Unlike last year, the team matches last night were without excitement, the best score of the evening being 2,874 by the M. O'Neil team of Akron, O. In 1935 the unheralded Wolfe's Tire Service quintet of Niagara Falls, N. Y., appeared on the program the night before five man competition ended and blasted out an unexpected 3,029 score to win the title.

There were two changes in the standings in the minor events yesterday. Earl Maret of Kansas City rolled into a tie for fifth place in the singles with 704 while Bill Stecky of Cleveland assumed sixth place in the all events with 1,935.

Scores still in the money are: teams, 2,688; doubles, 1,131; singles, 575, and all events 1,800.

NOTED STUDENT OF LAW VICTIM HEART ATTACK

James Montgomery Beck, Constitutional Expert is Stricken

(Picture on Page 1)

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—The sudden death of James Montgomery Beck, former Solicitor General and noted constitutional lawyer, brought expressions of regret in the Capital today.

The 75-year-old veteran of many battles at the bar, in congress and on the orator's rostrum suffered a heart attack shortly after his Easter luncheon in his home here yesterday and died within a short time.

Although Beck had been vehement in his denunciation of New Deal policies, administration leaders paid tribute to him today.

"His sudden death," said Solicitor General Stanley Reed, who as Beck's opponent argued some recent New Deal cases in this Supreme Court, "is a great loss to the nation.

"He has been an assiduous student of the law throughout his life and joined with his great legal ability of felicity of expression which enabled him to make his knowledge available to others."

Speaker's Tribute

Speaker Byrns, with whom Beck served in the house as a Republican member from Pennsylvania, said:

"Everyone will be shocked to learn of the death of this distinguished citizen who has been so prominent in public affairs. He was a lawyer of international prominence and a man of great ability."

Beck began his political career as a Democrat, being appointed by President Cleveland as federal attorney in Pennsylvania. Disagreeing with the platform of William Jennings Bryan, he switched to the Republican party. He campaigned for McKinley in 1896 and four years later was appointed assistant Attorney General, a job in which he gained attention as a "trust-buster."

Solicitor General

Resigning in 1903 he entered private law practice in New York, but in 1921 President Harding appointed him Solicitor General. He represented the government in approximately 1,000 cases before the Supreme Court, being successful in 78 per cent.

Beck was elected to the house in 1927 and re-elected for two additional terms. During his third term, he announced on September 13, 1934 that he was resigning.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Lilla Mitchell Beck; a daughter, Mrs. Beck Tucker, and a son, James M. Beck, Jr., now in London.

Sheer power of intellect marked James Montgomery Beck among his colleagues in the national House of Representatives and in the legal profession.

In the United States he was known as an authoritative constitutionalist, a great political orator and "trust buster." Abroad he was the first American lawyer to appear before the Privy Council, Great Britain's highest court; was a bencher of Gray's Inn in London, an officer of the French Legion of Honor and a commander of the Order of the Crown in Belgium.

REASONS WHY DOWNSTATE IS FOR LEN SMALL

Downstate voters have not forgoten what Len Small did for gotten what Len Small did for istrations and are preparing to give him the biggest vote of his career in Tuesday's primary. The following article published in the Blandinsville Star-Gazette, M'Donough county, reflects the sentiment for Small in the downstate area:

We are all of us familiar with the politician who curries favor with the voters before election time, promises them everything from tax exemption to gold-paved streets and then forgets them as soon as he gets into office. According to the way some voters talk politicans are amazingly short-memoried sometimes But we are wondering if it is not also possible for the voters themselves to forget.

* * *

In 1923 Len Small, who was then governor of Illinois and one of the busiest executives in the nation, took time off to come to the Blandisville farmers picnic and make one of the finest talks ever heard here. He did it at his own expense and at no cost to our town; and he was not campaigning nor seeking votes. It was simply a good will gesture to show the friendship he had and still has for our community and its people.

His being here made that picnic a memorable one. He told his big audience that day that he planned to put through a new bond issue to get the small towns of Illinois out of the mud, and that Blandinsville would be among the first to get a paved road.

* * *

Folks here appreciated his saying that, but they didn't believe it entirely, because Blandinsville is away off here a long way from Springfield and because they thought of Governor Small simply as a politician who liked to make folks feel good. That's where they were wrong.

In 1926 the 100 million dollar bond issue went over. In 1927 the first road that was built in that great state-wide program, was laid from Good Hope to the town hall in Blandinsville, and there it stopped. Len Small, as always, had remembered and fulfilled to the letter the promise he had made to his friends.

He was then and still is the greatest friend Blandinsville ever had in the state house. He knows Blandinsville and Blandinsville people, and he has done far more for this community than this community ever did or ever can do for him.

* * *

In other words, Len Small remembered us. Now it is our turn to remember Len Small. Let's not forget an old friend and go up and plunk a vote for some young Chicago lawyer who never so much as heard that there is such a town as Blandinsville on the map.

If he is elected, Len Small will go into the executive chair of Illinois with the soundest program, the widest experience and wisest head that ever controlled our state's affairs. He will have as his aides a thoroughly trained and competent group of business heads such as made his last administration stand out as a model for executive efficiency. Many of the men whom Small appointed are still in office, simply because there has been no one else competent to replace them.

Small this year is pitting experience and proven ability and friendship against hullabaloo and oratory and empty promises. Republicans of this community should think twice before they vote against the greatest governor and the greatest friends that Illinois and Blandinsville ever had.

ITALIAN BOMBS, IRISH RIOTING MARRED EASTER

While Millions of the Faithful Worshipped the Risen Christ

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Impressive religious rites and resplendent fashion parades marked Christendom's observation of Easter.

Millions of the faithful participated in traditional ceremonies, but the peace of the holy festival was disrupted by riotous scenes in Dublin and the bombing of an Ethiopian settlement.

Priests and pilgrims of many faiths joined in a colorful procession to the Holy Sepulchre at Jerusalem.

The Vatican observed its most quiet Easter in many years. Thousands of Romans repaired to St. Peter's but the state of Pope Pius' health prevented him from celebrating mass there. Sanctions kept tourists from Italy.

Drizzles in New York

Intermittent drizzles dampened New York's annual fashion parade along Fifth Avenue but bright sunshine favored promenaders along Chicago's Michigan boulevard.

Overflow crowds, estimated at 60,000 attended services in the 28 churches at Moscow, capital of the Soviet nation where religious instruction for youth is banned by the government.

At Mexico City—site of recent religious disputes — approximately 200,000 Catholics assisted at masses with complete liberty.

Clashes in Dublin

A parade of the Irish Republican army in Dublin, in memory of those who died in the 1916 rebellion, precipitated clashes. Scores were injured.

Italian planes bombed Warra Hailu in war-torn Ethiopia. Worshippers rushed from churches. Three were reported killed.

A section of the boardwalk at Asbury Park, N. J., collapsed under the weight of Easter strollers. Eight persons were injured.

In Gainesville, Ga., the faithful knelt in storm-battered churches to offer thanks that they had been spared in the tornado that resulted in the death of more than 200 of their neighbors earlier in the week.
